and fishing fleet; the seventy-five cent value depicted a mining camp in the Labrador.

In 1933, Italo Balbo, an officer in the Italian Army, led a mass formation flight of Italian airplanes from Chicago, Illinois to Rome, Italy. For this particular flight, PM Robinson had 8,000 copies of the seventy-five cent airmail stamp (C17) from the 1933 issue overprinted "1933 Gen. Balbo Flight $4.50" (C18) by Robinson & Company of St. Johns. This stamp was destined to be the last of the airmail overprints issued by Newfoundland.

Nineteen forty-three saw the issue of a single seven-cent airmail stamp (C19) for airmail use. This stamp, printed by the Canadian Bank Note Company, depicts a scene of an aircraft approaching the city of St. Johns. It is also the last airmail stamp issued by Newfoundland.

On April 1, 1949, Newfoundland joined the Confederation of Canada and thus closed a long and interesting chapter in the history of aviation and philately.

CENTENNIAL YEAR 1867-1967

Canada will celebrate its 100th Birthday this year and many events will take place through the Centennial Year including the World's Fair and BNAPEX '67 at the Alpine Inn. The Editorial Officers will endeavour to print Articles on philatelic research in and about 1867. This will be our Centennial Project. Give us your support.
